

PREFACE

Dear readers, dear authors and colleagues,

It is my great honor and pleasure to present to your attention the first issue of the online and print journal Advanced Physical Research. This new journal is planning to be published quarterly. We hope that the Journal will be an attractive and objective platform for the scholars from all over the world in a broad range of physical and material sciences and their education, publishing high quality peer reviewed papers, surveys, comments and correspondences.

As we can observe in recent years there has been rapid development in various fields of physics as a result of the development of experimental research methods and software. Therefore, it is important to publish the results as long as they remain relevant. I think Advanced Physical Research will help its readers and scholars working in the field.

The journal is intended to publish both experimental and theoretical research in broad range of topics of modern physics. With great pleasure I would like to invite researchers to contribute and share with their novel valuable results. I would like to thank our editors, Editorial Board members, reviewers, who did all their bests for establishment of the journal and congratulate them with these first bold steps. I also congratulate the potential readers and authors for getting this platform for sharing their new ideas and results.
